

BEST PLACE TO DO A BUSINESS DEAL

The Reserve Cigar and Wine Bar

And after you've inked the deal, relax in the rich atmosphere of leather and mahogany and a social environment that caters to everyone's needs. Choose from a variety of fine tobacco products, wines and ports, beer and liquor and delectable appetizers and desserts. Unique to Lee County, Reserve Cigar and Wine Bar combines four entities under one roof: the Cellar, a private membership area; the Humidor, an expansive walk-in humidor featuring fine cigars from around the world; an adjoining liquor store; and a full liquor bar. The Reserve also features free wireless Internet and a conference room ideal for the business meeting with a touch of class.

BEST USE OF A FORMER BURGER KING

JBistro

Most people probably drove by the old Burger King on McGregor Boulevard near Iona Road and thought of Whoppers. Chef James Hudson, on the other hand, thought: that's the perfect spot to serve steak pommes frits, shrimp pad thai and cornish game hen. Last year, with the help of friends and family, he transformed the space into a fine-dining Mecca for his French and Asian-influenced dishes. He uses local, seasonal ingredients like redfish and snapper. Even the desserts are made in house, and there's an extensive wine list.

BEST PLACE TO HAVE A CUP OF COFFEE

Eric L. Tibbs/Edward Jones

Some might wonder if now is the time to joyously revel in financial advice, but not Eric Tibbs. He hangs his shingle just steps away from the ocean on Fort Myers Beach and bills himself as "the friendliest financial advisor you will ever meet." But he also has all the options you'll need to make sense of your personal finances. Whether you're planning for retirement or your kid's college savings account, investing in the stock market or involved in a class-action settlement, or trying to recover your financial footing in the wake of economic strife, he can get you going in the right direction. Mr. Tibbs invites you to stop by for coffee anytime.

BEST DOCTOR FOR KEEPING IN THE GAME

Dr. David M. Heligman

Dr. David M. Heligman knows better than anyone how to help athletes with aching joints. The orthopedic surgeon was the chief physician for the University of Illinois athletic department, where he also completed his surgical internship and orthopedic residency training, at Rush-Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center. In 1987, he moved to Fort Myers to form the Institute for Orthopedic Surgery and Sports Medicine. He also specializes in adult reconstructive surgery including hip, knee, and shoulder replacements, shoulder rotator cuff surgery, and arthroscopy of the knee, shoulder, and ankle. A native of Detroit, Dr. Heligman is no slouch as an athlete himself: he likes boating, scuba, and outdoor recreational sports.
