

WHY YOU NEED TO PREPARE YOURSELF FOR HURRICANE SEASON.

“Very active’ hurricane season predicted”

“WASHINGTON – Colorado State University researchers have upped the number of named storms and hurricanes for this year. The forecast team announced today they anticipate 17 named storms that will include nine hurricanes. Five of those hurricanes are likely to be intense or major hurricanes, measuring 3, 4 or 5 on the Saffir-Simpson scale with sustained winds of 111 m.p.h. or greater.”

“Insurance premiums are soaring”

“Through the main effect right now seems more psychological than actual, Florida’s insurance crisis is beginning to weigh on the already-cooling real estate market. Insurance premiums are soaring, and many companies are canceling policies and refusing to write new business. Insurance agents throughout Florida are having “major” trouble finding coverage for homeowners and commercial property owners, said Scott Johnson, executive vice president with the Florida Association of Insurance Agents.”

“Extended range forecast of Atlantic seasonal hurricane activity and U.S. landfall strike probability for 2007”

“We have increased our forecast for the 2007 hurricane season, largely due to the rapid dissipation of El Nino conditions. We are now calling for a very active hurricane season. Landfall probabilities for the 2007 hurricane season are well above their long-period averages.”
