Innovative baby bottle holder now on sale

Fort Myers firm develops new device

SPECIAL TO FLORIDA WEEKLY

The Hands-Free Bottle Holder by Fort Myers-based Baby Butler Inc. is now available at select online and in-store retailers nationwide, announced company founder and President Jeff Archambault.

Available at www.babybutler.net for $22, the Baby Butler Hands-Free Bottle Holder is the first product to be sold under the Baby Butler brand. Combining the convenience of hands-free bottle-feeding with the comfort of holding your baby close, the Baby Butler Hands-Free Bottle Holder offers the convenience of a "third hand" to caregivers allowing them the freedom to do more.

"Now every parent can have what I was lacking," said stay-at-home while working father, Archambault. "A third hand without the cost of a nanny. The beauty of the Hands-Free Bottle Holder is in its simplicity, and now our online ordering system makes it easy for caregivers nationwide to purchase one."

The Hands-Free Bottle Holder features a weighted pillow on one end to hold it in place. The opposite end features an adjustable Velcro strap to hold any size bottle, allowing parents a free hand for other activities. There is also a small pouch to hold a pacifier. The reverse side serves as a changing pad, with a pillow to support the baby's head and the non-absorbent surface is easy to clean.

Still in its infancy, Baby Butler's Hands-
