The 2008 Lexus ES 350 has more than 100 available sensors designed to cater to the driver. For example, they optimize power delivery by sensing wheel speed and adjusting the Traction Control. They manage climate control. They automatically turn on the headlamps, modulate the ABS brakes and facilitate SmartAccess. True, they can't measure your exhilaration level as you sit behind the wheel. But then, you'd be the best judge of that.
